No Signs of Labor Movement

Ebert Urges Peaceful Action
Under 'Slavery' of Entente

Situation About Essen Regarded Touchy

(By Associated Press)
Dusseldorf, Germany, March 9.—Although 7,000 French, British and Belgian soldiers were today occupying Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort, the people of those cities were proceeding about their usual affairs in apparent utter indifference to the presence of the allied forces.

There were no signs today of any immediate labor movement by German workmen as an outcome of the occupation, the effort of agitators to bring on the long threatened general strike in protest against the imposition of the allied penalties having failed.

This refusal of the workmen to strike, at least for the time being, is attributed by the leaders to the poverty of the men which would not admit of their existence without their daily wage. However the temper of the laborers in the Essen district is reported such that it is feared the agitation may develop a menacing situation there.

Alongside the order of the French General of Occupation which was posted in public places was the proclamation by President Ebert calling the people to bear up peaceably under the "Entente's slavery."

General Degoutte's order places the miners "and other functionaries of the public utilities" under military control. It likewise forbids passenger train service except for workmen and international travelers.

The communal police are remaining on duty. The security police force which was disbanded yesterday, received its arms back today.

Report Says Soviets Beaten Off

(By Associated Press)

An infantry assault by the soviet troops upon Kronstadt, is reported to have been repulsed with enormous losses to the attacking forces.

These reports were preceded by claims made in Helsingfors dispatches that Petrograd was in the hands of the revolutionaries. According to a Reval special, however, the soviet troops recaptured the southwestern suburb of Petrograd.

(By Associated Press)
New York, March 9.—The volume of business done by the American Sugar Refining Company in 1920 shows an increase of $50,000,000 over the previous year, according to the annual report, made public today.

The total of $250,000,000, President Babst explained, represents the smallest tonnage handled in the history of the company, higher prices alone accounting for the increase of gross receipts.

Operating profits of $1,800,000 was $8,400,000 less than in 1919, and about one half cent on each dollar of sales, or a profit of less than 1 mill per pound.

Every physician must as a part of the honest discharge of the duties of his profession guard, to the best of his ability, the welfare of the public. As a part of that duty he must expose unwarranted claims to healing powers when ever found and in discharge of that duty, I am submitting herewith for the public, as a warning, the facts in the famous "talking sickness" case as set forth in the American Medical Journal under date of March 5:

"Throughout the length and breadth of the country there has recently been heralded an alleged marvelous cure of what the newspapers have been pleased to call 'talking sickness.' Not only have the newspapers made sensational stories out of it, but the chiropractors have used it as a basis for flaming newspapers advertisements extolling the virtues of their cult. Reading these articles and advertisements one learns that an 8-year-old child was suffering from a 'stange talking malady' that was so remarkable that 'specialists from all parts of the country were interested in her case.' Further, one learns that 'every form of sedative had been administered without improvement,' and 'all the medical physicians and consulting specialists whose services were tendered' failed to bring relief. Finally, a chiropractor 'pleaded for the opportunity to save the child and gained consent of the parents.' In a 'few moments' the chiropractor 'adjusted' the 'second and fifth vertebrae,' and 'the talking stopped.' And continued the full page advertisement, in very large and very black type: 'She Has Completely Recovered and is as Healthy and Happy as You.' So much for the fiction. It made a good newspaper story, especially for those newspapers that saw in it the opportunity to suggest to the chiropractic fraternity that, as their business had been given a magnificent boost in the news columns, it was highly desirable that they should add to this free advertising momentum an additional urge through the advertising pages. other." Then it is discovered that the miraculous cure was not a cure, that the treatments have in fact been so painful that the child's condition is possibly worse; that the chiropractor has been relieved of attendance, and that the child resents his muscular ministrations: Does the press give the public these facts? Do the advertisements cease? Not at all. What of the parents and the child? To whom shall they look? Whose duty was it to protect them against ignorance and incompetence? "The first duty of the state," says Disraeli "is the care of the public health." When the state permits those with no scientific knowledge, who know nothing of physiology, of anatomy, of pathology, of infection or immunity to treat disease—no matter what the method employed—the state fails in its duty.

Briefly these: That the child did not suffer from so-called "talking sickness"; that the alleged adjustment of the spine did not "cure" the "sick nose" and finally, that the child has not "completely recovered," but is still dangerously ill. The case was one of epidemic encephalitis, with a temperature ranging between 99 and 103 and active delirium, inequality of the pupils and strabismus. The improvement was gradual and that incident to the ordinarily observed progress of the disease. As shown by the case record, the chiropractor's "treatment" did not modify the course of the disease. The "talking" had ceased at intervals previous to his visit and continued at intervals after his "treatment." But the publicity given the case offered great opportunities for advertising, as advertising is an important part of the chiropractic curriculum it is but natural that this cult should take advantage of it.

A child suddenly falls ill. The malady is strange; physicians who are called give the disease a name, and tell the parents that any relief which science affords is only palliative and not curative, and that body forces frequently overcome the disease. The condition is actually encephalitis, an inflammation of the brain. As with other diseases affecting the nervous system, there ensue excitation, delirium, fever and twitching of the arms and legs. The parents are anxious and wish to do everything that is humanly possible. It is not surprising therefore, that they accept the services of a pretender to scientific knowledge. They know no anatomy or physiology; they cannot judge between the true and the false, they know only that their child is sick and that a man who is permitted by the state to practice the healing art is offering them aid. They accept. How many parents would not? The chiropractor administers his treatment. Gradual remission of the symptoms ultimately occurs. The parents are overjoyed. In the first flush of their happiness they write glowing testimonials to the chiropractor's ability. A miracle has been worked! The sensational press is furnished with "live" material. Sunday "feature pages" carry columns of write-ups and pictures and incidentally—or is it incidentally—whole pages of advertisements of practitioners of the pretending science. "One hand washes the

NEW COMPANY IS INDUCTED INTO SERVICE

Banquet Precedes Muster
Service For M Company,
Fourth Regiment.

Several Army Officials Attend Ceremony And Welcome New Organization.

Major Volka, Of Adjutant General's Office, Assures
Early Erection of Armory.

Preceded by a banquet tendered in its honor by the business and professional men of the city the newly organized machine gun company was mustered into the Ohio National Guard Tuesday evening at Memorial Hall as M Company, Fourth Regiment, Fifth Army Corps.

The ceremony was in charge of Captain Russell Baker of the 40th Infantry, Camp Sherman, assisted by Major H. H. Turner, of Fort Wayne,
Ind. the Fifth Army Corps Instructor;
Colonel Robert Hubrich, Commander of the Fourth Regiment; Major John C. Volka, of London, representing the Adjutant General's Department; and Colonel Chalmers R. Wilson, of the Adjutant General's Department, of Ohio.

Among other officers present were former local commanders of the National Guard, Colonel Reil G. Allen, Colonel O. E. Hardway and Captain Billy E. Paul. Lieutenant Smith, of Camp Sherman, was also a visitor.

The company was mustered into the service with a strength of 59 officers and men. It lacks but six enlistments of being to the full strength of 65.
Captain Henry Smith states that the maximum strength allowed by the government is 85 and that every effort will be made towards that number.

The Banquet

Honor to the men who enrolled in the new company was paid in the banquet which took place at six o'clock and which preceded all induction ceremonies.

Two long tables had been spread the full length of the third floor of Memorial Hall the section across one end reserved for the officers and other officials in charge.

Each man present "adopted" a soldier for the occasion and escorted him to a place at the table.

A most delicious chicken pie dinner was served with business men rolling up their sleeves and waiting on the tables.

The occasion was complete with the choice of Nollin Hathaway as toastmaster. He proposed a toast to President Warren G. Harding as the commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

Henry Brownell, a member of the city council, was the first to speak.
He contrasted the muster service today with the one when a guard company was first organized here and dwelt especially upon the benefits derived from the service.

Captain Charles Allen, replied to a toast and stated that it appeared M Company will be one of the best in Ohio.

Judge Charles A. Reid sounded a new note when he stated that Providence sent a floor about this time of year several seasons ago which kept the national guard in its existence. Judge Reid stated that at that time he was in the State Legislature and there were many who said a citizen soldiery was not needed. The service performed by the National Guardmen in the flood stricken areas forever silenced those who were advocating the abolishment of the Guard, said the Judge.

It was declared by Major H. H.
Turner that this nation was never so willing as at the present time to do so much for the National Guard in the way of training, equipment, and the other features of its maintenance.

during the War was described in an instance related by Colonel Hubrich.
He said that it was impossible to stop the company at Chateau-Thierry although there it suffered the almost unbelievable record of 110 casualties in fifteen minutes when caught in the barrage of the enemy.

Assurance that the new company will be provided with an armory as soon as the state can get the wheels to turning was promised by Major Volka.

Tom Frances, local man, added to the evening's entertainment with two songs at the piano. He was heartily applauded.

Induction Service

By the time the company was to be mustered into the service the balconies were filled with those who desired to see the ceremony. Many mothers and fathers were in the crowd.

As Captain Marx recruiting officer, read the names, the men took their places in double line. He then turned the company over to Captain Baker, who formally welcomed the organization into the service of the National Guard.

Captain Baker in turn gave the company over to Colonel Hubrich and with a manner that bespoke his long term in the service and his long experience in handling men, he declared that it was with great pleasure he became the instructing officer of so fine an organization of young men. He complimented the members of the company on having fathers and friends who were behind the movement in the manner shown by the banquet.

Major Volka addressed the company and designated its name of M Company, Fourth Regiment, of the Fifth Army Corps with headquarters at Fort Harrison, Ind., but said that until the organization had been recorded with the state department it will be known as the Sixth Separate Machine Gun Company.

For the first time Captain Henry Smith took charge and ordered his men to report next Tuesday evening.
He turned the company over to Sergeant Burnett Hyer for dismissal.

It has been learned that full equip-

ROYALTY RESENTS LACK OF TACT BY FRANK EDITOR

(By Associated Press)
MONTEVIDEO, (By Mail)—The publication by the newspaper El Dia of a photograph of the royal family of Italy
during the recent visit here of Prince Almone de Saboya aboard the Italian cruiser Roma resulted in two challenges to fight duels and the early departure of the Prince.

One of the officers of the Italian cruiser challenged the editor, who in turn, challenged the Italian Minister,
but no duel was fought.

Offense was taken by the Italian visitors to the captions under the photograph which they considered disrespectful to the royal family. The legends described King Victor Emanuel not as having the appearance of one chosen to rule a people, Queen Dowager Margarita as "small and inelegant" and Queen Helena as "big and homely."

Lieutenant Giovanni Gallati of the Roma, according to the accounts, was chosen by him among the officers of the vessel to demand of the editor either a retraction of the phrases or reparation by arms on the field of honor.
El Dia's editor, Julio Maria Sosa, published his reply to the challenge in his paper saying he had no explanations to give, that he would not recognize Lieutenant Gallati, as having been the offended one, but, that if any offense had occurred, the proper person to challenge was Prince Almone himself, as a member of the royal family, or the Minister of Italy in Montevideo or the commander of the Roma.

Neither the Prince nor the two others mentioned came forward with a challenge.

Fordson

FOR thirty-five years Henry Ford, a farmer boy, has been working on the problem of a successful tractor for the farm, and for the past fourteen years has devoted much time and a vast amount of money to the development of the present Fordson Tractor. Today that Tractor is in use on nearly 200,000 farms and if you have any doubt as to the satisfaction it gives to those who are using it, call in and get the booklet, just issued by the Ford Motor Company, and called "The Fordson at Work" and read the testimony which is there given by the multitude of owners of Fordson Tractors. No evidence can be more conclusive than that of the man who actually knows by personal experience and this is the line of testimony carried in this little booklet. If you cannot call for it, write, drop us a postal, and we will mail it to you without charge. It is so valuable you ought to have it because it is the open door through which the farmer will pass from the hard working drudge to the comparative comfort of the manufacturer. The Fordson makes it possible for the farmer to plan and direct while the machine will do the work. It presents the widest latitude for the farmer to exercise his brain power and plan how he can get the most from the soil, knowing that the Tractor will do the hard work, do it better, do it quicker, and therefore do it more profitably. This means not alone in the cultivation of the soil, in the harvesting of the crops, but in a hundred and one different demands that are made for labor, cutting of ensilage and the filling of the silo; cutting of wood; operation of the washing machine; in the lighting of the house with electricity; supplying the house with running water; bringing to the farmer's wife and daughters the conveniences of the city, relieving them of much of the hard, unpleasant part of housework.

The Public Schools

While our schools, especially the matter of providing the necessary finance to maintain them, are the subject of constant discussion and while the election of members of the school board, almost without exception, is bitterly contested and preceded by campaigns which are rivalled only by presidential election campaigns as awakeners of public interest, yet it is doubtful if, speaking generally, the people and the members of the school board, after induction into office, give to the affairs of the public schools the attention they merit.

Sometimes we are fearful that the matters of finance, new buildings, new equipment, compensation to instructors, athletics, entertainments and the like, all in a measure side issues to the great foundation upon which the public school system was built and all well enough in their place too, are receiving too much attention.

Sometimes we are fearful that the attention given to the new branches in the educational work is interfering with the proper instruction of the children.

After all is said and done the primary purpose of the great public school system is to educate the boys and girls of the land, fit them mentally and morally, discipline them so that they will be able to accept and preserve for oncoming generations this free government of ours.

We question, at times, whether the people, much as they discuss school problems, keep themselves closely enough in touch with what is actually going on in the school room. After all the big question is what and how much are the children being taught.

It would be well to hold the schools to the fundamental purpose for which they were created. To do this it is not necessary to make them an unpleasant place to which the youngsters go unwilling, but the pleasures and the side issues should be kept secondary and the education of the youth primary.

It is easy for the boys and girls, and the parents too, to applaud the pleasant school, the school we see in public, on the entertainment platform and on the athletic field, and to forget the real purpose.

Real school is a place of discipline and it cannot be converted into a pleasure resort or a forum for the training of juvenile entertainers without menacing the whole system and placing in jeopardy the generation which is soon now to take over the affairs of business and state.

The public school system is one of our great institutions which must be preserved.

It Is Time

The welcome news comes from New York that producers and distributors of motion pictures have taken pronounced action to keep the screen clean and wholesome.

It is time that such action be taken, time that a plan looking to the elevation of the motion picture screen, topics and production, be adopted and adhered to firmly.

There has been entirely too much of the "blood and thunder" variety of picture exhibition on the screens, too much of an appeal to the morbid and the disordered imaginings.

The trouble has been, not so much with the high class films and theaters, as with the so-called second class, or cheaper, theaters. Producers and exhibitors have, too frequently, proceeded upon the idea that patrons of such theaters desire and must have a lower class of entertainment. Instead of endeavoring to educate them to a higher standard and appealing to their better instincts the picture film exhibitors and producers have sought to cater to the lower and baser among the masses who patronize those cheaper theaters. The result has, undoubtedly, been a substantial contribution to the wave of crime which has been menacing organized society.

That mistaken idea is to be changed completely. A campaign appealing to the higher and better in people to be inaugurated if present adopted plans are carried in to execution. Films holding officials in disrespect and making heroes of law violators are to be taboo, the passions and the frailties of human beings are to be omitted or briefly displayed, wrong doing is to bring its sorrows, in the pictures as in real life, and right is to triumph over wrong.

The result of this change in plan will doubtless bring results in improved public morals and ideas.

SEEMING AND BEING

Boast not of the fact that you were in the fight,
Nor that you fought so well,
But the purposes you had in your inmost heart
That called you like a bell.

Boast not of the wealth you have so high,
Nor the beauty of ground and hall,
But tell a world that begins to doubt
How it chanced that you earned it at all.

Tell not of the blood that is in your veins,
Nor the deeds your fathers have done,
But explain what you do to show your blood
And to prove that you are their son.

It is time to be and not to seem,
To do and not to say,
For the day of make-believe must go,
And of live-the-truth must stay.

ROBIN, THE BIRD THAT LOVES TO MAKE CLAY POTS

(Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The Robin making clay pots

Everyone knows the Robin; his red dish-brown breast, gray back, white throat, and dark wings and tail are easily remembered. If you colour the drawing, you will always remember it afterwards. The Robin comes about our houses and lawns; it lets us get close enough to see it. It has a loud, sweet song. All birds have a song; and all sing when they are happy. As they sing most of the time, except when they are asleep, or when moulting, they must have a lot of happiness in their lives.

Here are some things to remember about the Robin. It is one of the earliest of all our birds to get up in the morning and it begins to sing long before there is daylight.

Birds that live in the trees, hop; birds that live on the ground walk, or run; but the Robin lives partly in the trees and partly on the ground, so sometimes he hops, and sometimes he runs.

When he alights on a fence or a tree, he looks at you and flashes the white spots on the outer corners of his tail. Again and again he does this. Why? That is his way of letting you know that he is a Robin. He is saying in signal code—flash and wig-wag—"I'm a Robin, I'm a Robin, I'm a Robin." So you will not mistake him for some bird that is less loved.

The Robin invented pottery before men did; his nest is always a clay pot set in a little pile of straws. Sometime, get a Robin's nest after the bird is done with it; dry it well; put it on the fire very gently; leave it till all the straws are burned away, and then if it does not go to pieces, you will find you have a pretty good earthen pot.

The Robin loves to make these pots. I have known a cock Robin to make several which he did not need, just for the fun of making them.

A friend of mine said to me once, "Come, and I will show you the nest of a crazy Robin." We went to the woodshed, and there on a beam were six perfectly good Robin nests all in a row; all of them empty.

NOW LET'S DO SOMETHING!

"There," said my friend, "All of these six were built by a cock Robin in about ten days or two weeks. He seemed to do nothing but sing and build nests. Then after finishing the last one, he disappeared. Wasn't he crazy?"

"No," I said, "not at all. He was not crazy; he was industrious. Let me finish the chapter. The hen Robin was sitting on the eggs, the cockbird had nothing else to do, so he put in the time at the two things he did the best and loved the most, singing and nest-building. Then after the young were hatched in the home nest, he had plenty to do caring for them, so he ceased both building and singing for that season."

I have often heard of such things. Indeed, they are rather common, but not often noticed, because the Robin does not often build all the extra nests in one place.

Do you know the lovely shade called Robin's egg blue? The next time you see a Robin's nest with eggs in it, you will understand why it was so named, and feel for a moment when first you see it, that you have found a basket full of most exquisite jewels.

Next to nest-building, singing is the Robin's gift, and the songs that he sings are full of joy. He says, "cheer-up, cheerup, cheerly, cheerup"; and he means it too.

FRIENDS DEMAND INCREASE POWER FOR GEN. PERSHING

His Position Carries Dignity Without Authority

Mentioned With Herrick And Hayward for French Ambassador.

BY MARK SULLIVAN
(Copyright 1921)

Washington, March 8.—Gen. Pershing's friends are divided between those who are urging Harding to make him Ambassador to France and those who are urging Secretary of War Weeks, and ultimately Congress, to change the customs and statutes dealing with the army organization in such a way as to make Gen. Pershing in fact what he now is in name, the head of the army.

Gen. Pershing's friends think he cannot be wholly happy in his present situation. He is the General of the United States Army. This is a unique honor. It carries the privilege of four stars on his epaulets and other similar dignities.

In a sense the position makes him above the army and away from it and an institution all to himself. He can wear any uniform he pleases. He is the only soldier who can wear a Sam Browne belt. He can go his way and the army runs along without much reference to him.

But therein lies the drawback for Gen. Pershing's temperament. The position of General of the Army carries too much dignity and too little power. The office more or less puts the holder of it on a shelf. If superannuates him before his time.

Pershing is like an ex-president. He has practically no real power in the army. The real head of the Army in the sense of being active and having power is the Chief of Staff. Pershing's friends and partisans think that to have the exalted honor that Gen. Pershing has, but to be excluded from the real power and activity that the Chief of staff has, is not best.

What they want and are now energetically trying to accomplish is to change the statutes and customs so as to make Gen. Pershing in effect Chief of Staff by attaching to his position as General of the Army all the power and much of the activity that the Chief of Staff now has.

Roughly, the idea is to make the Chief of Staff subordinate to the General of the Army, instead of dependent; and to make the General of the Army the actual and active head of the organization. There is an earnest effort afoot to bring this about.

How it will end depends, of course, largely on the new Secretary of War, Mr. Weeks, and on the President and Congress. If this present effort should promise success, probably Gen. Pershing would not care to consider anything else.

French Ambassadorship

Lacking success for this effort however, many of Gen. Pershing's partisans would like to see him given the Ambassadorship to France. That is the basis for all the present discussion. The whole thing is now largely in the stage of drawing room wire pulling. It is always drawing room politics that has most to do with Ambassadorships. Politics in the popular sense has little concern with it. The public generally takes little interest.

It is easy to make shrewd surmises as to what is really in Harding's mind as far as his mind has clarified. The fact is, however, that these foreign Ambassadorships are being chosen in much the same way as the Cabinet members; that is to say, by a method which includes the use of trial balloons.

Whether Harding does it consciously or unconsciously, this method of letting a name go up, letting the newspapers, the politicians and the public generally shoot at it, and letting these critics accomplish an amount of elimination which would be painful for so generous a man as Harding to manage himself, serves Harding usefully.

All that is said about these Ambassadorships really represents little more than a comparing of notes by the friends of various candidates who have called on Harding and who have got definite replies.

Out of this sort of background the best surmise is that Ex-Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio has or has had the best chance of being the next Ambassador to France. Mr. Herrick has already held this office, he is not in very good health, and it would be easy to appreciate that the assignment might not appeal to him.

After Mr. Herrick, the men who are believed to have the most pressing endorsements are Gen. Pershing and Col. William Hayward, a New York man who made one of the most picturesque records of the war as the head of a negro regiment which he raised personally, which fought with the French apart from the Americans and which, as a generous recognition on the part of the French, was the first American regiment to reach the Rhine in the "marche triomphale" after the armistice.

Col. Harvey's Chances

The universally expected probability that Col. George Harvey will be named as Ambassador to Great Britain has excited an opposition which is large in quantity but somewhat timorous in quality. The files of Harvey's Weekly are being systematically searched for passages that might render Col. Harvey unpalatable either to England or to sections of our own people.

Many senators and many other politicians are without enthusiasm for the appointment.

It will probably be accurate to describe their state of mind as one of wondering just how far President Harding's heart is set on this particular appointment.

If they thought it represented a strong personal determination on the part of Harding, they would not risk his displeasure by opposing it; but if they thought that Harding was not particularly set on it, there would undoubtedly be aggressive and organized opposition.

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

The fifth Annual banquet of the Fayette County Ohio Wesleyan University Association passed off with brilliant success at Grace Church, Tuesday night, vying with its predecessors in spontaneity and interest.

This was the first banquet of this Association since before the war and assembled seventy-six alumni members, ex-students and students, linked together by common memories and affection for the alma mater. The privilege of having with them Dr. John W. Hoffman, President of the O. W. U., Prof. W. W. Davies and Field Secretary, Mr. Shipp, of the University, was greatly appreciated and added a distinctive note to the affair. They were introduced by Supt. William McClain, Association President, and Mr. Joseph I. Taggart, Secretary and Treasurer, at an informal reception upstairs before the banquet was announced.

The large basement dining room was beautifully decorated in the University colors, red and black, and presented a glowing picture, the overhead incandescent bulbs shedding rosy effulgence with red shades and the long tables lighted by myriad red candles, which in crystal sticks, tied with black bows, formed aisles of flame down the center. Scarlet blooms added fragrance and vivid beauty and the appointments were prettily carried out.

The women of the Dorcas society prepared and served the supper which delicious and home cooked, everything most appetizing, and both in preparation and tasteful arrangement reflected much credit upon the organization.

Rev. Kearns-Preston pronounced the blessing.

Interspersing the courses, Mr. Maynard Craig, a "Yell Master" overflowing with "pep" and college spirit, led O. W. U. songs and yells and stirred dormant recollections as college girls and boys of many years ago joined with the younger ones in heartsome singing.

The inner man amply satisfied, Supt. McClain an able toastmaster, rose to give expression to the general feeling of happiness in the evenings reunion and gratification over the banquet, and to call for toasts.

Judge T. N. Craig, who had accompanied Supt. McClain to Delaware on a certain summer day, responded to "Belated Impressions," with the pep of a Freshmen and delighted his listeners with a spicy account of his failure to recognize a single building or residence of the days of 1865—when he entered the University.

"Dear Old Monnett," sung by the "girls," was an effective aftermath to this toast, and singularly appropos was Miss Helen Alden's toast to "Life at Monnett." This clever toast brought up a host of memories of co-ed life and the various phases of those "good old days" with their enchanting associations.

The toastmaster referred to the prominence of the Craig family at the Wesleyan, at least ten Craigs numbered among students at Delaware, and called upon Mr. David S. Craig to respond to "Why Should We Select Ohio Wesleyan" in the assurance of a capable response. Mr. Craig answered the query with ease and fluency and after an entertaining bit of reminiscence, touched on the deeper side of the University success—the influence it places upon the spiritual above the material. It is necessary to have the university departments equipped, to meet modern demands, but the real asset is in the character developed in its men and women.

Every man and woman present would have been disappointed had the toastmaster failed to call on Prof. Davies, whose droll wit and delightful personality are always generous contributors to the success of O. W. U. banquets. He responded with his usual readiness and told a few of his inimitable stories, provoking laughter galore, yet striking a deeper note in his quotation from Schiller, "a new race is springing up, that thinks not as our fathers thought before." He especially deplored "too many flunks" in colleges and said that they indicated that both teachers and pupils were at fault.

Mr. Henry Brownell and Prof. Davies had a brief tilt of wits, prefacing a heart stirring little talk by Mr. Brownell, in which he painted several pictures of university heads from memory's wall and complimented President Hoffman by saying that when the time came for his picture to hang on the wall, it would show a President with influence just as true and strong as any of his predecessors, and paying tribute to the great university as a christian institution.

Mr. Shipp, the new Field Secretary, made a snappy little talk, exploiting the spirit and interest of the student body as the finest he had ever seen. He was working, not to increase the enrollment, but continue the same high grade folks.

Dr. Hoffman made the address of the evening, forceful and intensely interesting in presenting the aims of the university, its progress and recent changes in the curriculum.

The distinguished and authoritative personality of the speaker gave added weight to his statements and his broad sympathy with the students and their success was strongly evident.

During the past few years several new chairs have been endowed and the special purpose of the University is now being developed to train students specifically and to adjust the curriculum to methods of modern life. The University is working towards the fourfold basis for each career—that it be scientific cultural, religious and social to give the student a rich cultural background, a social philosophy of life and a christian faith.

Short talks by Rev. Alexander and Judge Carpenter followed that of the President, and the banquet was closed with prayer by Rev. Pfaltzgraf.

It was with much regret that through words of warm appreciation by Dr. Hoffman, the gathering learned that Prof. Davies had handed in his resignation to take effect at the close of the school year.

The election of officers retained as the Association President, Supt. McClain, and Secretary and Treasurer, J. I. Taggart, to whose activities is due much of the success of the County Association as well as of the evening's banquet.

One of the most enjoyable Selden Grange meetings of the year was entertained Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. George Cline. Owing to the bad condition of the country roads, Mr. and Mrs. Cline entertained their guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jafed Adams on West Paint street. The hospitality of the home had been most courteously extended and its spacious rooms were made doubly inviting with pretty St. Patrick's day decorations.

Twenty-one members responded to roll call with views on "some of the Great Questions Before the American People Today," creating a very interesting hour.

Mr. J. Bruce Mark, Master, conducted the evening's business, which was followed by a short literary program. Excellent papers were given by Mr.

Sam Sollars, Mrs. J. B. Mark, Mr. George Cline, Mrs. Fred Clemmens handled Legislative news of interest to women in a very instructive way. Music diversified the program.

A most appetizing lunch was served, the colors and conceits of St. Patrick ingeniously used.

The evening's sociability reached the high water mark.

Miss Hazel Flowers and Miss Juanita DeWees gave a beautiful party, Tuesday evening in compliment to Mrs. Joseph Patterson (nee Iris Thompson) a bride of a few weeks.

Mrs. Patterson, had been invited to the home of Miss Flowers' sister, Mrs. Frank Perrill for the evening, and was surprised to find a dozen of her close friends awaiting her, and later a miscellaneous shower in her honor.

The table was a picture of beauty with suggestions of Easter prevailing. In the center was a large yellow wreath basket, in which were hidden the gifts the lid carefully camouflaged to represent an Easter nest, over which cunning little chickens hovered. From the basket extended yellow streamers to the four corners of the table, meeting bud vases filled with yellow jonquils. Maltine bows tied the handle of the basket.

An elaborate two course lunch was served, the yellow and white colour scheme prettily introduced.

Mrs. Patterson charmingly expressed her appreciation and thanks to guests for the beautiful gifts.

Mrs. Perrill assisted in the hospitalities.

Mrs. Ben Keller of Mt. Sterling, Mrs. Walter Hutton and Mrs. Wright Maddox of Frankfort, Miss Marie Nisley of Jasper Mills were out-of-town guests.

The March meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution passed off pleasantly, entertained at the Federated Club rooms by the following hostesses: Mesdames Frank L. Stutson, Howard McLean, Mart G. Morris, Dave Sutherland, H. G. Coffman, R. M. Hughey, Harry Parrett, E. F. Todhunter, Maude Coffman, Misses Lizzie Bell, Fannie McLean.

Mrs. Rowe, Regent, conducted the opening business session.

"The Martha Berry School" was the subject of a splendid paper, by Mrs. A. M. Bush. This school, to which the Daughters of the American Revolution gives such generous support, has grown in twenty years from a small school and one teacher to a school having a tract of 2,000 acres and a faculty of ninety teachers.

The late Ex-President Roosevelt was greatly interested in this school and did much to put it on its feet.

Mrs. Walter D. Craig played beautifully—"Dawn" and "The Yuccas"—Cadmian.

Miss Ella Hess contributed a delightful paper of much originality, on "The Pioneer Mothers," who endured the hardships of the early days with such fortitude. Contrary to the usual custom the writer handed the bouquets to the "Pilgrim Mothers" rather than the "Pilgrim Fathers."

A tempting collation was served and the Daughters enjoyed visiting over the teasups.

All women know that they ought to walk more—that they would feel a hundred percent better and live longer and happier if they did—but now comes a longfide incentive in the statement given out by Dan O'Leary, champion walker of the world, who's promoting walking in South Texas.

"I can make every woman beautiful—and it won't cost her a cent," said O'Leary. "It's simple, too, just walk. A ten mile hike each day will bring up the standard of beauty a hundred percent—and that's going

Will Be Equipped With New Red Globes and Replaced As They Were Before Broken Off.

Ornamental traffic posts erected last fall in this city and recently broken off their bases in one night by automobile drivers, are to have a future, according to announcement by Service Director Pete Tracey, Wednesday. Director Tracey stated that as soon as the new red globes arrive the posts will be reset at the intersections of North, Fayette, and Main streets with Court street. One of the posts was badly damaged when struck by a rapidly driven machine and a new one will probably be required, but that the posts will be replaced was made definite.

There were still many good seats available, however, Tuesday afternoon. Legion posts in other nearby towns are negotiating for a performance.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth."

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs."

INDIANS' SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Mr. Brittain certified further: "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying to grow my hair again, I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asserted would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

True Hair Grower at Last

"That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the then mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

BIG PENSION CLAIM ALLOWED WIDOW

Mrs. Sarah J. Richardson, formerly widow of George Richardson, of Company E, 90th Ohio Infantry, Civil War, residing on Willard street, recently received a voucher from the United States Pension Bureau for more than twelve hundred dollars.

Prior to the filing of her claim in June, 1920, by John T. Oatmeal, the claim had been pending in the Pension Bureau more than twenty years and not allowed on account of irregularities in the proceedings.

George Richardson died May 17, 1892.

Other pension claims allowed at same time through Oatmeal's agency were: Taylor Martin, Lucy Martin, Warren E. Brannon, Clinton Johnson, Daniel Taylor, Robert Weaver, Lucy Stolzen, D. C. Longman, L. Ramsey, William Barnes and T. Alexander.

MAYOR RESIGNS WOMEN ON COUNCIL

Albert Mermer, Mayor of Jamestown, has tendered his resignation because of the fact that he moved from Jamestown to a farm near that place, and Harry Frazer has been named to succeed him as Mayor of the town.

The new Mayor formerly held a position on the council, and is one of Jamestown's business men.

Jamestown now has two women members of the council, Mrs. Frank Zeiner previously having been elected, and Mrs. Jennie Buckles being chosen to succeed Frazer, who resigned from council to become mayor.

BOY IS INJURED

When he fell on the pavement in front of the Sunnyside school Tuesday at the noon hour Richard Sprenger, twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sprenger, sustained a severe scalp wound in which several stitches had to be taken.

The lad was running when he slipped and fell, striking the back of his head. He was rendered unconscious for a few moments.

HEALTH THE KEYNOTE TO BEAUTY

Beauty means so much to women—power, social triumph, admiration and love. Beauty implies good health. Who ever saw a woman racked with pain, struggling with weakness or disease, who could be called beautiful? The woman of today in this high-strung nervous age is continually overdoing, with the result that fills peculiar to her sex develop which unchecked, will ruin all chances for her happiness. The natural restorative for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been recognized as a standard remedy for women's ills, and has done much to relieve pain and restore good health to women.—Advt.

Columbus Gasoline

Because Columbus is a high test, straight run fuel, it will put youthful pep in cars that have become sluggish.

Fill the tank with Columbus, and the engine will start easily and run smoothly.

You'll thrill at the way the car responds to the lightest touch of the accelerator, and you'll always have power when you want it most—for the emergency sprint and on steep hills and in heavy going.

Columbus costs a little more than less efficient gasoline, but it is far more economical, not alone because a gallon will carry you farther, but also because the smooth performance that Columbus gives saves repair bills and minimizes depreciation.

SPRING SIGNS ARE ABUNDANT

Not in recent years has spring been so far advanced as at the present time, and the "ground hog" tradition has made a profound impression upon people generally—because the ground hog did not see his shadow and as a result it was a "sign" that winter had broken even on February 2nd.

Shrubbery is beginning to put forth leaves, spring flowers push forth and some of them are blooming; fruit buds are swelling almost to the bursting point, spring birds are present in abundance, and even the straw hat and shirt sleeves have been much in evidence, while many a survey has been made for the early garden planting.

Unusually cold weather would cause heavy damage to fruit prospects because of the advanced stage of the fruit buds for this time of the year.

FICTION LEADS IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON—Fiction in 1920 ran first in public favor in the United Kingdom as it did in 1914.

Sociology now comes second, in place of religion, which held that place in 1914.

Juvenile literature has displaced science for third place, and technology comes fourth.

Then follow, in order, religion, science, poetry, history, medicine, description and biography. Literature comes last in the list of 12 leading subjects.

In the year just ended, 11,004 new books were published in the United Kingdom; an increase of 2,382 compared with the previous year. This brings British publishing almost back to pre-war level. The foregoing analysis was compiled by the Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record.

TIRE INSPECTOR GETS RESULTS

Akron Man Says He is Certainly Thankful For What Tanlac Has Done For Him

The gratifying results being obtained from Tanlac is further evidence in the case of L. L. Chapman of 64 S. 26th St. Kenmore, Ohio, well-known inspector at the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.'s plant No. 1 Akron. Here is what he says:

"When a man is hungry and is afraid to sit down and eat a good meal on account of having to suffer from indigestion and stomach trouble, he is in a pretty bad fix, and that just hits the nail on the head in my case before I got Tanlac. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I would bloat until I could hardly breathe. I felt as tired on getting up mornings as I did when I went to bed the night before and was losing weight and strength every day. 'A friend got me to try Tanlac, and although I've just taken one bottle so far my food seems to agree with me, for my stomach no longer troubles me. I'm rapidly regaining my weight and strength, too, and am going to take Tanlac a while longer until it builds me up and puts me in the very best of health. I don't believe it can be beat anywhere, and am certainly thankful for what it has done for me.'

Tanlac is sold in Washington by C. S. Haver, in Lowell by Mason's Drug Store, in Jeffersonville by J. B. Davis, in Octa by J. W. Murphy and in Milledgeville, E. L. Ford Sons, Lee Orman Seiden.—Advt
